Career Personality Profiler

How does this report help?

The Career Personality Profiler provides an in-depth description of your career personality based on your career interests. The report helps you identify and make appropriate career choice by matching your career interests with occupations.

The report suggests you comprehensive list of occupations that match your career interests. The recommended occupations in this report require various levels of education and training. So, based on the education and training you have acquired or anticipate to acquire, you can choose appropriate occupation(s).

Why are interests a good base for making a career choice?

Choosing an occupation by matching career interests is important because people whose interests match their occupations and activities have greater work satisfaction, enjoy work more, are more productive, have higher levels of motivation and have higher career success rates.

Theory

The Career Personality Profiler measures six broad interest areas:

| Realistic |
| Investigative |
| Artistic |
| Social |
| Enterprising |
| Conventional |

Most individuals can be described by one or more of these six personality types. An individuals interests may not be described by just one of the six interest categories rather most people have interests in several interest areas, however, they have one interest area that is stronger than the others. Like people, environments or occupations may not be best represented by one Interest Area. They also may be represented better by several areas. Because of this heterogeneity in the interests of people and occupations, several Interest Areas usually serve as the most appropriate representation of an individuals interests, as well as the interests that a work environment (or an occupation) satisfies. Thus, Career Personality Profiler uses both primary and secondary Interest Areas to explore occupations.
